Research Agenda

The Lowitja Institute's Research Agenda 2024 to 2026 aims to achieve positive health and wellbeing benefits for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Peoples across four key themes:

- 1. Self-determination - This theme seeks to uphold historical, contemporary and future truth-telling as a fundamental process for the decolonising of health and wellbeing policy and practice. Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people have the right to regain control to lead research and decision-making processes to contribute to social transformation throughout generations.
- 2. Sovereignty - This theme seeks to acknowledge the political and intellectual sovereignty of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people. This theme upholds sovereignty in the political discourse including determining the agenda, the creation, governance, control and protection of knowledge.

3. Cultural Determinants - This theme seeks to recognise the importance and relatedness of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander cultural determinates which includes our knowledge systems as integral part to strong health and well-being.

4. Racism - This theme recognises the ongoing legacy of colonisation and the impacts on health, and health care delivery and access. This theme seeks to uphold Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander rights to culturally safe systems free of racism through privileging community-led solutions to policy development and implementation to health service management and delivery, research, education and training, to improve health system quality and safety.
